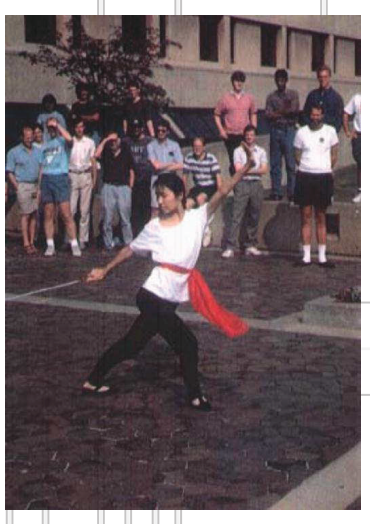
CSD EMIGRATION SEMINAR

Friday, 15 February 2008
Wean Hall 5409
1:00 PM * With Refreshments



Jeannette M. Wing

Assistant Director
Computer and Information Science and Engineering Directorate
National Science Foundation
President's Professor of Computer Science
Carnegie Mellon University

Tips on the Job Interview Process

Are you an SCS Ph.D. graduate student about to interview for a job in academia or industry? I'd like to share with our soon-to-be or newly-minted Ph.D.s some general tips on the interview process, including pre-interview preparation, the visit itself and job talk, and post-interview follow-up. I will leave ample time for discussion and questions.

The CSD Emigration Seminars are a series of lectures and discussion sessions that focus on "grooming" you so you'll be ready to conquer the real world when you finish your Ph.D. Unlike the Immigration course, which is held during the first three weeks of the school year, the Emigration course is spread over the entire academic year. While the topics of interest are chosen with the more senior students in mind, students in the entire School of Computer Science are encouraged and welcome to attend.