

WoodenWood Project

The project combines 3D printing of an all-natural wood paste with conventional modular woodworking techniques. An integrated circular design for wood waste towards a new life is presented by means of traditional and digital design. The printing toolpath leverages sawdust, an underutilised material, to produce a new wood-textile which resembles a rattan weave.

Source: StirPad June 24, 2023

Olif Jiang

D.D Lab

