Beautiful Country	Qian Julie Wang	"... seven-year-old Qian arrives in New York City in 1994 full of curiosity, she is overwhelmed by crushing fear and scarcity. In China, Qian's parents were professors; in America, her family is "illegal" and it will require all the determination and small joys they can muster to survive. ... an essential American story about a family fracturing under the weight of invisibility, and a girl coming of age in the shadows, who never stops seeking the light. " - Penguin Random House	Available
Daring Greatly	Brene Brown	Every day we experience the uncertainty, risks, and emotional exposure that define what it means to be vulnerable or to dare greatly. Based on twelve years of pioneering research, Brené Brown PhD, MSW, dispels the cultural myth that vulnerability is weakness and argues that it is, in truth, our most accurate measure of courage. - Barnes and Noble	Available
Data Feminism	Catherine D'Ignazio and Lauren Klein	" [The authors] present a new way of thinking about data science and data ethics - one that is informed by intersectional feminist thought. ... show how challenges to the male/female binary can help challenge other hierarchical (and empirically wrong) classification systems. Data Feminism is about much more than gender. It is about power, about who has it and who doesn't, and about how those differentials of power can be challenged and changed." - MIT Press	Available
Disability Visibility	Alice Wong	"One in five people in the United States lives with a disability. Some disabilities are visible, others less apparent—but all are underrepresented in media and popular culture. ... this anthology gives a glimpse into the rich complexity of the disabled experience, highlighting the passions, talents, and everyday lives of this community " - Penguin Random House	Available
A field guide to grad school: uncovering the hidden curriculum	Jessica Calarco	"... how to choose a good advisor, how to get funding for your work, and whether to celebrate or cry when a journal tells you to revise and resubmit an article... are part of a hidden curriculum that you are just expected to know or somehow learn on your own" - Princeton University Press	Checked out (due 5/14/22)

How to be Antiracist	Ibram X Kendi	"an electrifying combination of ethics, history, law, and science—including the story of his own awakening to antiracism—bringing it all together in a cogent, accessible form ... helping us rethink our most deeply held, if implicit, beliefs and our most intimate personal relationships (including beliefs about race and IQ and interracial social relations) and reexamines the policies and larger social arrangements we support. " - Ibram X Kendi website	Available
Hunger	Roxane Gay	"New York Times bestselling author Roxane Gay has written [essays] with intimacy and sensitivity about food and bodies , using her own emotional and psychological struggles as a means of exploring our shared anxieties over pleasure, consumption, appearance, and health." - Roxane Gay Website	Available
Invisible Women	Caroline Criado-Perez	"... so much data fails to take into account gender, because it treats men as the default and women as atypical, bias and discrimination are baked into our systems. And women pay tremendous costs for this bias, in time, money, and often with their lives ... Built on hundreds of studies in the US, the UK, and around the world" - Goodreads	Available
Just Mercy	Bryan Stevenson	"Just Mercy: A Story of Justice and Redemption is a memoir by Bryan Stevenson that documents his career as a lawyer for disadvantaged clients. The book, focusing on injustices in the United States judicial system, alternates chapters between documenting Stevenson's efforts to overturn the wrongful conviction of Walter McMillian and his work on other cases, including children who receive life sentences and other poor or marginalized clients." - Wikipedia	Available
Leftover Women: The Resurgence of Gender Inequality in China	Leta Hong Fincher	"Contrary to many claims made in the media, women in China have experienced a dramatic rollback of rights and gains relative to men. Leftover Women lays out the structural discrimination against women and speaks to broader problems with China's economy, politics, and development. " - Bloomsbury Collections	Available
No study without struggle	Leigh Patel	"... the struggles in higher education often directly challenged the tension between narratives of education as a pathway to improvement and the structural reality of settler colonialism that creates and protects wealth for a select few. Through original research and interviews with activists and organizers ... argues that the struggle on campuses reflect a starting point for higher education to confront settler strategies. " - Beacon Press	Available
On earth, we're briefly gorgeous	Ocean Vuong	"a letter from a son to a mother who cannot read ... the letter unearths a family's history that began before he was born — a history whose epicenter is rooted in Vietnam — and serves as a doorway into parts of his life his mother has never known ... it is also a brutally honest exploration of race, class, and masculinity. " - Goodreads	Checked out (due 4/27/22)

The Loneliest Americans	Jay Caspian Kang	"... story of Kang and his family ... against the backdrop of a rapidly expanding Asian America, as millions more immigrants, many of them working-class or undocumented, stream into the country. At the same time, upwardly mobile urban professionals have struggled to reconcile their parents' assimilationist goals with membership in a multicultural elite—all while trying to carve out a new kind of belonging for their own children, who are neither white nor truly "people of color." " - Penguin Random House	Available
The Rise of Big Data Policing	Andrew Guthrie Ferguson	"Andrew Guthrie Ferguson reveals how these new technologies --viewed as race-neutral and objective--have been eagerly adopted by police departments hoping to distance themselves from claims of racial bias and unconstitutional practices." - Goodreads	Available
The Sum of Us: What Racism Costs Everyone and How We Can Prosper Together	Heather McGee	" From the financial crisis of 2008 to rising student debt to collapsing public infrastructure, she found a root problem: racism in our politics and policymaking. But not just in the most obvious indignities for people of color. Racism has costs for white people, too. It is the common denominator of our most vexing public problems, the core dysfunction of our democracy and constitutive of the spiritual and moral crises that grip us all." - Penguin Random House	Available
There there	Tommy Orange	"... follows a large cast of Native Americans living in the Oakland, California area and contains several essays on Native American history and identity. The characters struggle with a wide array of challenges, ranging from depression and alcoholism, to unemployment, fetal alcohol syndrome, and the challenges of living with an "ambiguously nonwhite" ethnic identity in the United States." - Wikipedia	Available
Thick	Tressie Mcmillan Cottom	"In eight highly praised treatises [essays] on beauty, media, money, and more, ... McMillan Cottom refuses to shy away from blending the personal with the political, from bringing her full self and voice to the fore of her analytical work. Thick "transforms narrative moments into analyses of whiteness, black misogyny, and status-signaling as means of survival for black women" (Los Angeles Review of Books) with "writing that is as deft as it is amusing" (Darnell L. Moore). - The New Press	Available
