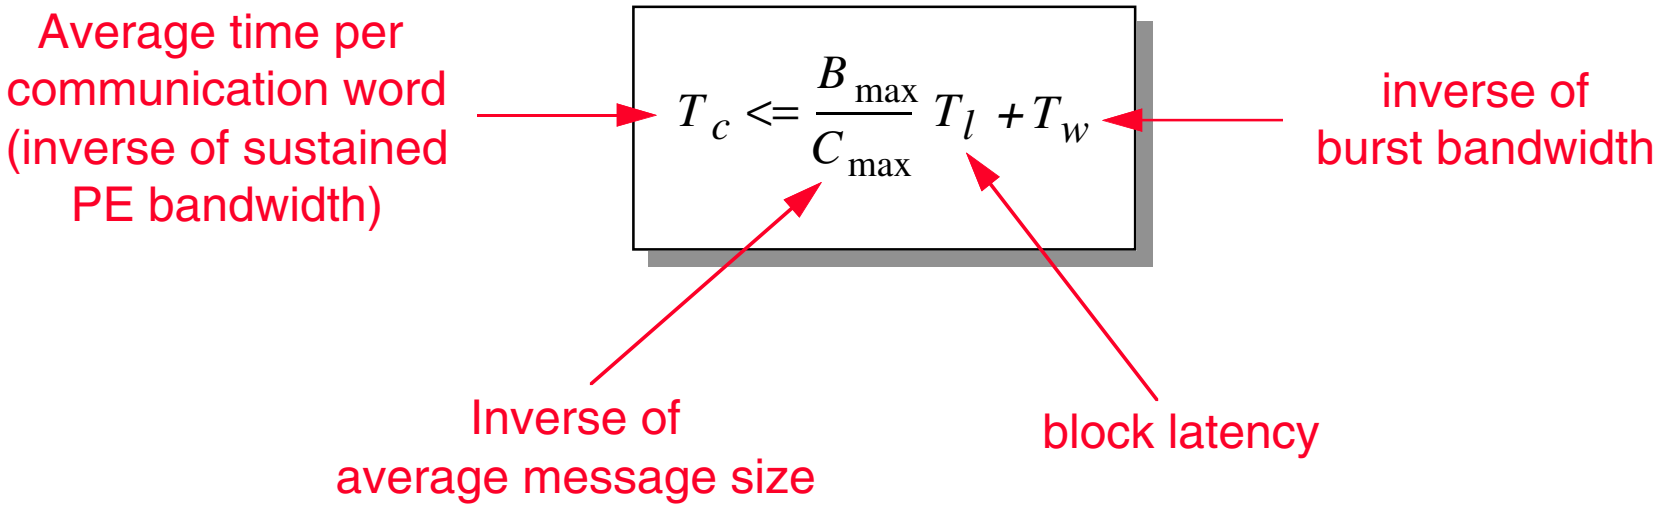
Low-level performance model


Relates burst bandwidth and block latency to sustained PE communication performance